Futurium Berlin

A forum has been set up in the form of Futurium in Berlin, adjacent to the government district, inviting visitors to contemplate the world of tomorrow.

The range of rooms consists of exhibition halls, introverted think tanks, open communication zones, conference halls and a subterranean storey with laboratory and workshop character. Our luminaires, planned by realities:united fulfil highly diverse tasks in the building and via external lighting around the building. LED light lines in the foyer achieve especially spectacular effects, creating a multi-controllable matrix of light that transforms the extensive metal grid ceiling into an interactively playable media screen.
